PLANETARY TRAVELER

I am Sumoc, the last of the Phleig, the Planetary Travelers. We once were a race that came to understand the folding of space. This enabled us to move at the speed of thought, to explore the vastness of space. In our travels we were witness to an infinite variety of alien landscape. Only rarely did we encounter star systems capable of supporting life, and less often, intelligent life. We learned of a star system with eight planets, all said to possess their own unique natural beauty. But one was said to be a world that exists as a meeting place of possibility, where untold numbers of beings have made the journey from one state of consciousness to another, from the world of want to the world of fulfillment. We set out to find this mysterious world.

These are the visual flight logs of our journey.
